GIANTS SETTLE BACK AGAIN TO WINNING

Matty Proves Once More That He Is a Master in Art of Pitching.

ALLOWS ONLY SIX HITS

Beals Becker's Home Run in the First Inning Starts New York Off with a Rush.

Matty came back. The great pitcher of the Giants won him the title of "king of them all," beat Dahlen's men by a score of 5 to 1. The game marked the final appearance of the Giants on their home ground until after their return from their Western trip late this month. They will play the Superbas at Washington Park this afternoon and then depart for another trip into the enemy's country. A crowd, select, perhaps, but slim in number, was on hand to witness the men a hearty goodby, and they found plenty to cheer over.

ATHLETICS BREAK EVEN

Win First Game from the Red Sox, but Lose the Second.

[By telegraph to The Tribune.] Philadelphia, July 5.—The Boston Red Sox led the dash for the American League pennant, and the world's champion Athletics again divided a double-header here today. Playing his trump card by sending Jack Combs to the box in the sixth inning of the first game, when the score was 2-0, Matty won the game for the Giants by a score of 5 to 1. The second game, which was pitched by Morgan and Pennock, was won by the Sox by a score of 5 to 3.

Beals Becker's Home Run in the First Inning Starts New York Off with a Rush.

Beals Becker was prominent in the dismissal of Barger. When Snodgrass got a base on balls Becker, who had been laced the base on balls, hit a home run in the first inning, and the crowd roared. Snodgrass hit high and far, but Norhen was under it when the ball dropped to earth. Becker tried for another home run, but Morgan made a neat catch. The effort was made by Becker, however, jolled Kent for a pass, and when Murray singled a puzzling little Texas Leaguer to right field, Becker and Merkle scored. Merkle ended the inning by flying out to Moran. Then Kent settled down, and only an error by John Hummel, which allowed Merkle to score on an attempted double steal, made another run possible.

BRAVES BOW BEFORE RIXEY

Shut Out by Tall Recruit, While Phillies Score at Will.

Boston, July 5.—The Boston Braves were shut out by the Phillies here today by a score of 10 to 0. Rixey, Philadelphia's elongated recruit pitcher from the University of Virginia, held the Braves while his teammates were piling up runs. Only two Boston men reached second base.

CUBS BLANK THE CARDINALS

Lavender, a Puzzle in Box, Is Aided by Timely Hitting.

St. Louis, July 5.—The Cubs defeated the Cardinals here this afternoon by a score of 2 to 0. Lavender's steady pitching, together with timely hitting by his teammates, gave Chicago the victory with a shut-out.

YANKEES FIGHT IN VAIN

Lose Sixteen-Inning Struggle to the Washington Team.

Washington, June 5.—Playing one of the pluckiest games seen here in a long time, the New York Yankees battled desperately with the Washington Senators for sixteen innings here this afternoon, but the result was the same as the preceding games.

The Senators won, this time by a score of 4 to 5. Led and inspired by Harry Wolpert, whose suspension brought about an altercation with the umpires, expired last night, the New York men pitched the game right up to the handle in spite of their crippled condition.

Wolpert covered his old position at third base and Martin moved over to second. The remainder of the team presented the same front as in the games on July 4.

The men worked with more vim and snap than usual and Bert Daniels, made the only error of the side.

The Senators hammered the ball all over the lot, and made fourteen hits from the deliveries of Ray Fisher, who was knocked out of the box in less than two innings, and Jack Warhop, who pitched the game of his career in the remaining fourteen.

Sweden Sets Standard for the Olympic Games

Athletic Section Opens To-day with a Parade Before the King.

Stockholm, July 5.—Sweden has set a standard for Olympic arrangements and hospitality which other nations will find it hard to surpass, not only in the Stadium appointments, which are the most luxurious for athletes ever known in Europe, but in the facilities provided for the press and visitors within the Stadium and everywhere about the capital.

Immediately after the football games were finished yesterday workmen began to prepare the great field for the other sports. Apparatus for gymnastic displays, pole vaulting, jumping trenches and wrestling platforms were put up.

The ceremonies of opening the athletic section of the games will be held to-morrow. After the march before the King, participated in by the athletes of all nations, Crown Prince Gustave Adolph, the honorary president of the Swedish Olympic committee, will deliver an address. The court chaplain, Clemens Ahlstedt, will then read the sermon, after which the hymn, "A Mighty Fortress is Our God," will be sung by the entire assembly.

The weather to-day was hot and favorable to the American athletes, nearly all of whom went ashore to put the finishing touches on their training.

The King of Sweden is impressed by the work of the American rifle team, and has asked that one of the rifles be sent to him for a trial at targets.

The Swedes captured all three prizes in the miniature individual rifle shooting competition, this afternoon. Lieutenant Carl Holmstrom scored 23, with his 25 shots at 25 metres, thus winning the gold medal; Lieutenant Holm scored 23 and gained the silver medal, and Engineer Eriksson scored 22 and earned the bronze medal. An English rifleman was placed fourth. Competitors from seven nations, including the United States, participated in the shoot.

Sweden also won first prize, the gold Olympic medal, in the team competition for miniature rifle shooting, with an aggregate score of 95. Great Britain's team was second, with a score of 97, and the United States third, with 88.

In the final round of the outdoor lawn tennis singles, Winslow, of South Africa, beat H. A. Kitson, also of South Africa, three sets to one. The score was 7-5, 4-6, 10-8, 8-6.

The cornerstones will be laid at 10:30 o'clock this morning, and addresses will be made by a number of persons, including the Rev. James M. Farrar, Monsignor Edward W. McCarthy, who has followed the fortunes of the Superbas for thirty years, and Rabbi Nathan Kraus.

Following this, Mr. Ebbets will be the host at a luncheon to newspaper men and a number of invited guests. That afternoon will be taken to Washington Park, where the Giants and Superbas will meet for the last time before starting on their second Western tour.

Among those who have been invited are President Taft, Governor Wilson of New Jersey, Governor Dix and Mayor Gaynor. Bernard J. York will preside, and the opening remarks will be made by Borough President Steers of Brooklyn. After the various articles have been deposited in the stone Mr. Ebbets will seal it up.

With the keen racing of Thursday in mind it is hardly necessary to predict more good sport this afternoon for the second day of the Elkhound Park Steeplechase Association meeting, near Long Branch. The enthusiastic crowd on the Fourth attested to the popularity of racing, and with another good card offered the same big crowd is sure to be in attendance.

Six races will be decided, three on the flat and three on the jump, and about the same number will go to the post as went on Thursday. Chief interest perhaps centres in the Archdale Steeplechase, about three miles, in which Essex B. Tynes, Garrettsville and Denier are named, among others. The West End Steeplechase also promises well, as among those entered are Mrs. Payne Whitney's Webbs' Carter, King's Plate, Parson Kelly and Supplement.

Word comes from Boston that "Hub" Pordue, the clever pitcher, who left the Braves in a huff several days ago, had had a change of heart. With the difference patched up, he will join the team at once.

George Edward Waddell, better known as "Rube" Waddell, who has had a varied career as a baseball pitcher and who at one time was ranked with the best, is said to be suffering from acute indigestion and gall stones. Waddell earned his great fame as a pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, but even Connie Mack could not control his eccentricities, and after other managers tried in vain to keep him up to his work he drifted to the minors, and at the present time is a member of the Minneapolis club of the American Association.

Over at his training quarters in Jersey City yesterday Fred Storbeck, the South African heavyweight, who meets Jim Stewart in the Garden on Monday night, went through a course of sprouts under the watchful eye of his manager, Tom O'Rourke. When asked to tell something of his career in the ring, Storbeck said that he won the amateur championship of the Transvaal three years ago and then visited England, where he boxed Bombarier Wells. He was trained by the "Dixie Kid," who taught him the Jeffries crouch, which, in Storbeck's opinion, was a handicap, not a benefit, and was the cause of his defeat in eleven rounds. Storbeck later boxed a draw with Frank Moran, of Pittsburgh, and was having the good of a return bout, when spectators who had bet on Moran broke into the ring. Stewart will have about fifteen pounds on Storbeck, but the South African says he will win.

Young Jack O'Brien and Young Brown, who clash in another ten-round bout on Monday at the Garden, will finish work today. O'Brien is training under the direction of his brother, who is confident of victory. Brown is preparing at a local gymnasium, and is impatient for the bout to begin. Johnny Marto and "Kid" Burns, who will meet in the third ten-round bout, were practically down to weight yesterday—135 pounds, ring-side—and will ease up today.

PLAN MATCH RACE FOR YACHTS. Newport, R. I., July 5.—If arrangements can be made there will be a match race between the schooner Aurora, Istiana and Wilmot off this port some time during the summer.

The Newport Yacht Racing Association is ready to offer a cup, and Messrs. C. L. F. Johnson and Royal Phelps Carroll, of the association, had a conference with Cornelius Vanderbilt, owner of the Aurora, today regarding the race.

TIMELY BITS OF SPORT

To Lay Cornerstone To-day for New Home of the Superbas.

PROMISE OF GOOD RACING

Another Big Crowd Sure to Turn Out for the Meeting at Elkhound Park.

The dreams of Charles H. Ebbets, president and chief owner of the Brooklyn Baseball Club, will be realized this morning, when the cornerstone is laid for the new home of the Superbas in the Flatbush section. Hundreds of letters have been received by the club in the last few days of congratulatory notes wishing all luck to Mr. Ebbets and his team. These will be deposited in the stone, together with the newspapers of the day and of those in which the first announcement was made early last January that the club would move from Washington Park to one of the most complete and finished homes in the country some time this year.

The cornerstone will be laid at 10:30 o'clock this morning, and addresses will be made by a number of persons, including the Rev. James M. Farrar, Monsignor Edward W. McCarthy, who has followed the fortunes of the Superbas for thirty years, and Rabbi Nathan Kraus.
